

Species Report

Common Name: Fire Salamander

Scientific Name: S. salamandra

Rarity: tres rare

Description: The fire salamander (Salamandra salamandra) is a common species of salamander found in Europe.

It is black with yellow spots or stripes to a varying degree; some specimens can be nearly completely black while on others the yellow is dominant. Shades of red and orange may sometimes appear, either replacing or mixing with the yellow according to subspecies.

Recent Observations:

Date	Count	Location	Observer
------	-------	----------	----------

No recent observations found.